Paula A. Crider

Following a distinguished 33 year teaching career, Paula Crider has earned the high honor of having been granted the title of Professor Emeritus at The University of Texas in Austin, Texas. She has served as guest conductor, lecturer or adjudicator in 38 states, Canada, Ireland, Australia, Italy, and the United Kingdom. Professor Crider is a Past President of the National Band Association, and serves on the board of directors of the American Bandmasters Association and the Sousa Foundation.

Professor Crider received degrees in Music and in English Literature from the University of Southern Mississippi, and a Master of Music Education from The University of Texas. She has taught in public schools at all levels, and holds the unique distinction of having been the first female in the State of Texas to serve as Director of Bands at a Class 5-A high school. Her Crockett High School Bands in Austin, Texas earned 12 University Interscholastic League "Sweepstakes" Awards, received national recognition on the concert stage, and were twice named Texas 5A State Marching Champions. Ms. Crider was the recipient of the National Band Association's "Citation of Excellence" presented by Dr. Wm. J. Revelli for her band's performance at the National Band Association Convention in Knoxville, Tennessee. She has served two interim positions as Director of Bands at Columbus State University and the University of Nebraska.

During her tenure at The University of Texas, Professor Crider conducted the Symphony Band, the Longhorn Marching and Concert Bands, and served as instructor for undergraduate Conducting, Brass Methods and Marching Techniques. She taught Graduate Wind Literature, Supervised Student Teachers, and served as Administrator for the Longhorn Music Camp. Highly acclaimed for its musical and marching excellence, the 380 member Longhorn Band enjoyed national acclaim under her leadership.

Professor Crider has written numerous articles for The Instrumentalist, The Band Director's Guide and the National Band Association Journal. She has published manuals for Brass Techniques, Marching Band Methods and Instrumental Conducting, and is coauthor for the Hal Leonard "Masterwork Studies" series, a text for high school bands. She has presented numerous professional teacher seminars throughout the United States, and continues to work with talented young students in Student Leadership Workshops. She Serves as coordinator for the National Band Association Young Conductor/Mentor Program, and is on the American Bandmaster's Association Board Of Directors.

In 1995, Ms. Crider was inducted into the prestigious American Bandmaster's Association. Ms. Crider was only the third women to be so honored. Awards and honors include two "Eyes of Texas" awards for teaching excellence, the Tau Beta Sigma/Kappa Kappa Psi Outstanding Service to Music Award, the Sudler Legion of Merit, the Texas Bandmaster's Association Lifetime Achievement Award, and the Women Band Director's International Golden Rose Award. In 2004, Professor Crider was named Texas Bandmaster of the Year.

Rick Stitzel has been active in the field of jazz education for over 30 years. He holds bachelors and masters degrees from the University of North Texas in Denton. His master's degree is in jazz studies. Mr. Stitzel has served as director of Jazz Studies at Tarrant County College South Campus in Ft. Worth for the past 24 years. In addition to his teaching duties he is sought after as a clinician and adjudicator in the jazz area. He has directed numerous all-region and all-state bands, including the 2004 Missouri All-State Jazz Band. Each summer he serves on the faculty of several jazz camps, including the Jim Widner Jazz Residency at Drury University in Springfield Missouri, the Jim Widner Jazz Residency at Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa and the Grapevine Independent School District Jazz Camp in Grapevine Texas. He is an active performer on both trumpet and piano. He has appeared with many name acts including the Temptations, Frankie Valli, The Four Tops, The Supremes, Martha and the Vandellas, and The Temptations Review.

Rick is also very busy as a composer and arranger. He has written music for 700 radio and television commercials, theme music for programs on educational television, and has arranged music for theme parks including Six Flags Over Texas, Worlds of Fun, Astroworld, Six Flags Over Mid-America and an annual musical variety show for the US Army. He is also musical director for The Miss Texas Pageant. He arranged music for Don Henley of the Eagles, a concert that was presented on a national television broadcast on the Bravo Network.

His jazz compositions have been performed and recorded by professional and school bands around the country. His pieces have been performed at the Pink Pop Jazz Festival in Ibbenburen, Germany, the Montreaux Jazz Festival in Montreaux, Switzerland, The Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago, The International Association of Jazz Educators Conference in New York City. In 2004 he did a seminar and concert series in Slovenia, under the auspices of the U.S. Embassy.

He is currently publishing his compositions and arrangements through his own publishing company, Rick Stitzel Music, and Hal Leonard Music, the largest publisher of educational jazz music in the world. He has 60 original compositions and arrangements of jazz standards published. He has been commissioned by many high schools and colleges to compose original jazz works. The latest of these is "Dream On" which was commissioned by the Texas Christian University Jazz Ensemble and premiered at the Texas Music Educator's Association conference in San Antonio last February. He is the author of Jazz Theory-A Survival Guide, a text that is in use at schools and universities around the country, including the Eastman School of Music.

Col. John R. Bourgeois

Colonel John R. Bourgeois, USMC (Ret), was the 25th Director of "The President's Own" United States Marine Band. His acclaimed career spanned nine presidential administrations-from Presidents Eisenhower to Clinton.

A native of Louisiana, Colonel Bourgeois is a graduate of Loyola University in New Orleans. He joined the Marine Corps in 1956 and entered "the President's Own" in 1958 as a French hornist and arranger. Named Director in 1979, Colonel Bourgeois was promoted to his present rank in 1983. He retired from active duty on 11 July 1996.

As Director of "The President's Own", Colonel Bourgeois was Music Advisor to the White House. He selected the musical program and directed the band in its traditional place of honor at the U.S. Capitol for four presidential inaugurations, a Marine Band tradition dating to 1801. He regularly conducted the Marine Band and the Marine Chamber Orchestra at the White House, appearing there more frequently than any other musician in the nation.

Under Colonel Bourgeois' leadership the Marine Band presented its first overseas performances in history, traveling to the Netherlands in 1985 where "The President's Own" performed with the Marine Band of the Royal Netherlands Navy. In February 1990, Colonel Bourgeois led the Marine Band on an historic 18-day concert tour of the Soviet Union as part of the first U.S.-U.S.S.R. Armed Forces Band Exchange. He also directed the Marine Band on 19 nationwide tours, bringing the music of "The President's Own" to the American people.

Colonel Bourgeois is president and CEO of the John Philip Sousa Foundation, past president of the American Bandmasters Association, past president of the National Band Association, and the American vice president of the International Military Music Society. He has served on the board of directors of the World Association for Symphonic Bands and Ensembles and the Association of Concert Bands. As Director of the Marine Band, Colonel Bourgeois was the Music Director of Washington D.C.'s prestigious Gridiron Club. He is a member of the Military Order of the Carabao, The Alfalfa Club, and the College Band Directors National Association.

Among the many honors and awards Colonel Bourgeois has received are the 1986 Phi Beta Mu Outstanding Bandmaster Award, and the 1987 Kappa Kappa Psi Distinguished Service to Music Award for "contributions to the growth and developments of modern college and university bands." In 1993, he was awarded the Mid-West International Band and Orchestra Clinic Medal of Honor. Colonel Bourgeois was elected to the Academy of Wind and Percussion Artists of the National Band Association in 1988 and received the 1991 Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia National Citation "for service and dedication to music and country." In 1994 he was awarded the Grainger Medallion of the International Percy Grainger society and in 1996 the A. A. Harding Award of the American School Band Directors' Association.

Colonel Bourgeois conducted his final concert as Director of "The President's Own" on 11 July 1996 (the band's 198th birthday), at DAR Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C. More than 3,500 people, including prominent musicians and government dignitaries, attended the gala event. Presidents Clinton, Bush, Ford and Carter and Mrs. Reagan sent letters of gratitude and praise which were read at the concert. Secretary of the Navy John H. Dalton hailed Bourgeois as "a national treasure" and presented him with the Distinguished Service Medal from President Clinton. Marine Corps Commandant General Charles C. Krulak compared Colonel Bourgeois to the band's 17th Director, John Philip Sousa, saying, "Our Corps has not only had John Philip Sousa, we have also had a John Bourgeois. His legacy will never be forgotten by the Marine Corps or our nation." The concert was covered by media giants CNN, ABC, CBS, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and The Washington Post. ABC's Peter Jennings selected Colonel Bourgeois as the Evening News "Person of the Week." James Brady featured Bourgeois' profile in his "Brady's Bits" in the 7 July edition of "Parade Magazine."

After the Change of Command Concert, The Washington Post's Chief Music Critic, Tim Page wrote, "Bourgeois leaves his ensemble in terrific shape; indeed, it would be hard to imagine any band playing with greater vigor, precision, and timbral variety...Washington is very generous with its standing ovations. But Bourgeois deserved each and every one he received last night."

In August 2000 Colonel Bourgeois was named "American Man of Music" for the triennium 2000-2003 by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia National Music Fraternity. In December 2000 he was elected to the National Band Association's Hall of Fame of Distinguished Band Conductors with induction ceremonies held at Troy State University in February 2001. In March 2005 He was installed as a Lowell Mason Fellow of the Music Educators National Conference and in May he was awarded a Doctor of Music "Honoraris Causa" from Loyola University, New Orleans.

In his retirement Colonel Bourgeois stays busy as a guest conductor-clinician, visiting professor at Loyola University New Orleans in a chair endowed in his name, and he continues to produce wind band arrangements and editions for Wingert-Jones in a series known as "The Bourgeois Editions." He is active in his local community of Washington, Virginia, where he is President of the Rappahannock County Historical Society and President of the Board of the Childhood Care and Learning Center. He has also authored a chapter on the history of the United States Marine Band titled "The President's Own" in the book, "The Marines."
